Description

In Brief

Most of the vineyards where the grapes for this wine have been grown are located near the extinct volcano called Kozhuh. When the volcano erupted, it brought devastation. And yet when this happened, the micronutrients and minerals that rushed to the surface enriched the soil, so that new life thrives in it. Near the extinct volcano Kozhuh, our vineyards are growing on what once (millions of years ago) was covered in lava and volcanic ash.

Tasting notes

Colour: deep, inky red. Aroma: mature, varietal nose with soft black fruits, small flowers (violets) and an interesting accent of pine honey and notes of liqueur. Taste: juicy, round body with grainy, velvety tannins, good structure and elegant, noble finish. A wine with ageing potential.

Food Pairing

Excellent with a variety of dishes - cured meats, mature cheeses, gourmet burgers and barbecue.
